Cleveland, Miss.

Dear Mr. Moore:

Please forgive me for not writing sooner. I imagine that Cynthia has seen you and told you this, but I wanted to have some record of telling you directly.

You asked me to find out about an architect for the ~~NAKWA~~ Cleveland center. I checked two or three people whom other people had told me were ~~an~~ architects who could possibly come to Miss. on consultation jobs. None of these letters got any response. At the Mileston community center, ^{however} thought, Lee Bankhead and I talked to Jim Boebel, one of the two construction workers who built the center. At that time he indicated that he could come up to Cleveland and talk to you and the other people in "a few days". When I talked to him again about it two or three days ^{later}, he was even more indefinite. I'm sorry that I couldn't do any better than that, and especially sorry that I didn't tell you what I had been able to do any sooner.

I really don't know if Jim Boebel ~~came~~ ^{came} or not. You would know that better than I. I certainly hope that he will make up his mind to stay in Miss. and work on a few more centers, but I can't make up another person's mind for him.

Please let me know if you have made other arrangements and do not ^{still} need an architect's advice. I talked with a student the other day who said she ~~would~~ was planning to visit Harvard in a few days. She has several acquaintances in the School of Architecture, and I asked her to sound out people about organizing an architect's project and perhaps have architects coming into the state regularly. Would you be interested in that kind of project, either for the Cleveland center, or any future projects?

Again, sorry for the late reply to your request. How is the welfare thing coming? I'd like to come up to Cleveland again soon, and I'd like to hear how the ~~plans~~ ^{plans are} coming along. Thanks.

Yours truly,

Lois Chaffee
